

statement exploring what can be achieved by following instructions

Preparing for a Kenyan safari adventure comma for parenthesis

For a country of its size, Kenya sure packs a lot in. In fact, Kenya is a fantastic destination whoever you are! There dash for parenthesis are a million different reasons to come here. Picking just one is almost impossible. Stunning landscapes set the co-ordinating conjunction scene: from unexplored rainforests to picturesque beaches; rolling grasslands to scorched deserts. But what hyphens

5/6 spelling word

comma for fronted adverbial should you choose? For a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, you must select the Masai Mara Game Reserve and these apostrophe for contraction

expanded noun phrase

instructions will ensure that you're fully prepared for this amazing adventure!

Essential items:

Passport

Sun cream

A torch

Sensible walking shoes

expanded noun phrase

Sun hat

Camera

Binoculars

First aid kit

Mosquito net

Insect repellent

Instructions:

adverb of time

present tense

command

adverb

subordinating conjunction

1. Firstly, to ensure that your travels are stress-free, find your passport and carefully check that it is in date. If it isn't, then you won't be able to travel.

apostrophe for contraction

hyphen

adverb

2. Arguably, the most important consideration is to remember to dress comfortably while on safari. It is strongly recommended that luggage be kept to a minimum. Lightweight clothing (with long sleeves) in neutral colours is brackets to add detail - for parenthesis subordinating conjunction

5/6 word

comma - fronted adverbial most suitable for the bush because this will ensure that you are kept cool and camouflaged. In addition, bags are

adverb

adverbials of manner

comma in a list

likely to get extremely dusty and dirty en route so we strongly advise against taking your fashionable, flimsy

expanded noun phrase

present tense

suitcase.

present tense

imperative verbs/command

subordinating conjunction

3. Once you have packed, your camera must be located. Why is this so essential you ask? After arriving, a camera

co-ordinating conjunction

adverbials of time will be vital to capture the stunning scenery and astounding animals within the safari park.

equipment list

sequenced, chronological steps

4. Finally, Kenya's temperature can reach a blistering 30°; therefore, it is crucial that you pack sufficient amounts of sun cream, a pair of sunglasses and a wide-brimmed hat because they will help to avoid you suffering from the heat.

The Masai Mara National Reserve is considered a "must see" for any new visitor travelling on a safari to Kenya and if you vigilantly follow these instructions, your Kenyan adventure will be one that you never forget! However, it is imperative that you remember that the wild animals you'll come across on safari are not like those found in theme parks - they aren't tame! Most of the safari camps are unfenced and dangerous animals can (and do!) wander through the camps although attacks by wild animals are rare.

